If you are unable to obtain a certificate of your dog's sterilization (being spayed or neutered), a letter from a veterinarian stating they have examined your dog and can verify that your dog has been altered will suffice. If the rabies certificate notes the sterilization status of your dog, this can serve as proof. A vet bill or statement noting the sterilization status of your dog with a description, breed, name and age matching the application information can also be submitted as proof.

You may not renew your dog's license beyond your dog's rabies expiration date. If your dog's rabies vaccination expires in less than a year, only purchase a 1-year license and provide an updated rabies vaccination record to keep the license current. Remember that once your rabies vaccination expires, so does your dog's license.

For renewals and replacements, please provide your current License Tag Number. Please note that replacement tags incur an additional fee.

A dog license is required for any dog older than 4 months that has resided in Albany for 10 days or more and has not been licensed.
